Last month, we were able to share an article about the Danielle Byron Henry Migraine Foundation, who are doing a fundraiser, Shine Her Light, on June 16th at the Gallivan Plaza. As it turns out, Dan and Diane Henry do their work from the comfort of their home in your neighborhood! So we thought we would sit down and find out more about this hardworking couple.

Dan and Diane met in college in 1968, and were married in 1972. Dan received his B.S. at the University of Washington and graduated from the University of Washington School of Medicine. He had always wanted to be a doctor, and had been inspired by his parents and a family doctor to pursue the career. He completed his Family Practice Residency at the University of Utah. Diane received her B.S. at the University of Washington in Medical Technology.

After college, they settled in your neighborhood and established Foothill Family Clinic on Foothill Drive, in 1979. He always enjoyed helping his patients, but it was when their daughter, Danielle, started struggling with migraines at age 7 that the Henry family really found their passion.

Since 1999, Dr. Henry's practice has been primarily dedicated to helping patients with severe headache disorder and migraine disease. In March 2016, their family started the Danielle Byron Henry Migraine Foundation. In January, the foundation funded the Headache School in conjunction with the University of Utah Neurology Department, offering training, support groups and education.

Dan and Diane have two children: Their daughter, Elizabeth Henry Weyher, who received her BA from the University of Utah and her J.D. at the S.J. Quinney College of Law. She is married to Sam Weyher, and they have two young boys, Jack and Henry. Sam received his B.A. from Colorado College and his Masters in Education from the University of Phoenix. He now teaches at the J.E. Cosgriff Memorial Catholic School and has loved teaching for over ten years. Danielle, their daughter, was the one that suffered from migraines, and passed away at only 17 years old, leading to the creation of their foundation.

While their work consumes much of their life, the Henry family do have other interests. They enjoy organic farming and are avid sports fans of the Utah Jazz, the University of Utah, the University of Washington and the Seattle Seahawks. They also adore labrador retrievers and have raised five since 1983 - Sandy, Ace, Homer, Bella and Bob.

They love living in such a beautiful part of Salt Lake City, and especially appreciate the diverse and engaging community and the beauty of the views and the houses. 5
